THE TANGIER ARREST.—The New York

Journal of Commerce says it might well puzzle one who is not familiar with the relations between the United States and the Mohammedan nations to explain an editorial in the Cincinnati Press which has seized on the persons of certain officers of the Sumner and sent them home as prisoners.

But we presume it will turn out that the Consul was perfectly aware of his powers and rights, and that he has not exceeded them. Possibly a little explanation may make the matter intelligible to some of our readers. We are not informed as to the treaties subsisting between the United States and the Emperor of Morocco, but we take it for granted that they are similar to those with other Mohammedan powers, which are substantially summed up in the phraseology of the Cincinnati Press on the following of the most favored nations."

Now in Turkey, and in Egypt, the "most favored nations" are in the habit of claiming and exercising, partly by treaty and partly by custom which has grown to be as strong law as treaty, the right to detain in custody, and to send home the property of their own subjects, through the interference of their respective consuls. This is the recognized right of European and American governments, and the result is that when an Englishman or an American lands in Egypt, Turkey, and other Mohammedan countries, he is not only under the protection of his consul, but he is absolutely at the disposal of his consul, and he may be arrested by the consul and imprisoned or shipped out of the country, without the slightest interference on the part of the Mohammedan government. The Consul in Egypt, Turkey, and other Mohammedan countries, has the right to detain in custody, and to send home, the property of his own subjects, through the inter-

TELEGRAPHIC TRAM.—We do not think the assertion of the St. Louis Republic, that the telegraphic summaries of Congressional proceedings which the "Associated Press" sends to the Western newspapers, always exceedingly meagre and generally dished up in such a style as to be as near unintelligible as possible, is entirely correct. As our contemporary says, the most important measures are often wholly omitted, while the details of the reporting seem to be wholly occupied with insignificant and frivolous matters transpiring. If Mr.

Sumner presents an abolition petition, the fact is dished over the wires with a great flourish, as though there was something novel and interesting in the announcement. Information as to the very real and important matters that are transpiring, while the press is compelled to look to the Congressional Globe for the record of these proceedings in which the public feel an anxiety to be kept posted, is almost entirely wanting.

The Eastern journals are furnished with a responsible digest daily of the proceedings of the amount of two or three columns or more, while the laborers of the West consider themselves lucky to get a few "stick-facts" of the mere trash. The telegraph may seem to us very valuable, but it is not so to the public, who are not so much interested in the details of the proceedings of the Congress as they are in the result of the proceedings. The telegraph

A SUCCESSFUL CAREER.—George Peabody, the American banker in London, whose magnificent gift of $150,000 to the poor of the city has been the subject of much comment, and who has been in the London press, has during his successful career, given away to charitable objects no less than one million eight hundred thousand dollars. He is a native of Danvers, Massachusetts, and a descendant of the Peabody family, who have been in the city of New England since 1630. He began his career, as an office boy, when eleven years old. At fifteen he was a merchant, and at twenty-seven partner in a Baltimore house, with branches both in New York and Philadelphia. In 1837 he went to England, and, entering the banking business in London, has since then remained there.

Mr. Thomas J. Mitchell, who was waylaid near North Middletown, Bourbon county, on the night of the 13th inst., and of his wounds after having remained inexcusable till his death.

OUR SAVATTE CORRESPONDENCE.—BUSINESS TALK.—The Louisville Journal has just issued a special number, containing a special report on the business of the city. It is a very interesting and valuable work, and is well worth a perusal. Previous to and immediately succeeding the battle of Shiloh, the rebel rumormongers had a swimming time in it. In this place, some new rumor was invented, and the people were again in the day. The effects of the "grape vine" telegraph, corner of the square and Court street, was constantly thronged with eager and excited listeners, and the teaming detachments spread out all circles were permeated. There are thousands now in this city and county who believe what the "grape vine" reported. It is a very interesting and valuable work, and is well worth a perusal. DEPORTABLE CAVALRY.—A little son of J. H. Massey, of Vincennes, Ind., five years of age, was run over yesterday morning by a team attached to a coal-wagon and almost instantly killed—the wheel passing over his body. The driver swears that he did not see the child until he observed him under the wagon. It is a distressing affair.
